Validating the Bell Pair

- Specifications. Identify an output from the circuit simulator which certifies the Bell pair.

- Description. It is always a good idea to test our code before moving onto another step. In this activity you must use the features of your circuit editor to validate that you really have prepared a Bell pair.

- Submission. A screenshot of the circuit editor and an explanation of what displays in the editor are telling us this state really is a Bell pair.